

Newsletter 2019 OCTOBER

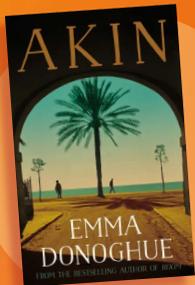

Halloween is coming...

Have you noticed the days getting shorter and the leaves turning a burnt orange before falling from the trees. Things are falling too at Holland & Barrett - they have falling prices to go with the change in season - so why not check out their deals in the offers section.

Are you getting into the spooky spirit and throwing a Halloween party this season? You can pick up some scary party decorations in centre from retailers like Art & Hobby and Scribbles. Don't forget to call into SuperValu for all the party food, drinks or goodies for the trick or treaters. Why not capture your party's spirits by dropping into Fujifilm Blackrock to order your keepsake spooky images. Check out the latest in-centre offers on the reverse and head over to our Facebook page for all the latest news and updates.

We have something that is sure to put the frighteners on you. Try our spooky Halloween wordsearch below. For the answers head to our Facebook page where they're published each month.

For October our recommended read by Dubray Books (Akin by Emma Donoghue) has been flying off the shelves, so if you have more than a minute call in and pick up your own copy!

Noah, a retired professor, has been eagerly planning a trip to Nice to rediscover his childhood home and investigate the truth about his mother's work during the Nazi occupation. However, these plans are disrupted when he's forced to take his 11-year-old great-nephew, Michael, into his care, and they must then make the journey together. Fraught arguments gradually give way to common bonds as the unlikely pair unravel their family history in this novel with heart and tenderness at its core.
